ELKS ENTERTAIN L. O. D. E.

Following the regular meeting of Blairmore Lodge No. 15, B.P.O.E.L., on Tuesday evening, the members entertained the Crow's Nest Chapter of the L.O.D.E. and members' wives with a very enlightening debate.

The debate was presented in mock parliament, when the government, under the leadership of J. E. Gibbs, P.E.R., brought in a bill calling for the House to adopt "a distinct flag for Canada."

The session was opened by Governor-General R. Gray, P.E.R., being ceremoniously received; after which Speaker William Bond, of Lethbridge Lodge No. 37, declared the house in order to deal with the bill. A. Veprava was sergeant at arms and E. A. Harper clerk of the house.

In the regretful and unavoidable absence of Rt. Hon. W. J. Bartlett—who was called away to attend the conference of the World's Biggest Men, the Honorable Speaker, William Bond, A.S.C.N.R.C.E.D., occupied the Woolack, a most dignified position, with great solemnity, upholding the honor of this very ancient office. He ruled with impartiality in this very strenuous, and at times exciting debate, keeping the hot members to strictly parliamentary procedure and language, thus by his suave manner and soothing blandishments helped the most fiery of the debaters to keep within due bounds. This tended to carry the debate to a very successful finish. It was an enjoyable and instructive to the members themselves and the visitors who packed the public galleries overflowing.

At the outset, the opposition, under leadership of J. V. McDougall, E.L.K., challenged the government to stand or fall on the result of the issue, which was accepted and the debate fell into full swing.

Supporting the bill were W. H. Chappell, Junior, J. R. McLeod and W. W. Scott, while the opposition stalwarts included R. W. H. Pinkney, J. A. Kerr and R. Gray. After both leaders gave exceptional arguments in behalf of their cause, a division was called for, with the government going down to defeat and the house proroguing around 11 o'clock.

Ice cream was on hand to cool off the debaters and look after guests, everyone vying the evening a decided success.

GRAND CHANCELLOR COMING

Bro. G. Powell, of Wayne, grand chancellor of the Alberta Grand Domain of the Knights of Pythias, will be in The Pass this week end, and will attend the regular meeting of Livingstone Lodge in the lodge hall tomorrow night. The meeting will convene at 7 o'clock. We understand that he will also visit Coleman this week end, and attend the regular meeting of Turtle Mountain Lodge at Hillcrest on Tuesday night next.

All members are urged to turn out on this occasion.

PRIMA DONNA REFUSED TO SING FOR GENERAL GRANT

The historical incident in which Emma Abbott, famous prima donna, refused to sing in the Taber Grand Opera House at Denver, although General U. S. Grant was present, is humorously depicted in "Silver Dollar," a First National picture now showing at the Orpheum. The picture centers about the character of Colorado's silver king, who built the opera house and thought he could do as he pleased. He insisted on opening champagne for Grant while Miss Abbott was singing. She became annoyed at the noise and walked off. Edward G. Robinson plays the role of Yates Martin in this highly romantic story of the mad gold rush and silver strike days of the early West. Bebe Daniels has the leading feminine role.

SPECIAL MOTHERS'

DAY SERVICE

Mrs. Lyman Gurney at United Church on Sunday, May 14th

Sunday, May 14th, will be Mothers' Day. A service in keeping with the occasion will be held at Blairmore United Church at 7.30 p.m. In song and story Mrs. Lyman Gurney (nee Eldred Cole), of Bellevue, will bring the Mothers' Day message. To all mothers a cordial invitation is extended to be present at this service. Mrs. Gurney has splendid talent as a reader, is sincere in her work, pleasing in personality.

The Mother-and-Daughter banquet will be held on Friday evening, May the 12th.

CROW'S NEST PASS

FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Blairmore has been drawn against Coleman for the opener of the Crow's Nest Pass Football League, the game to be played at the local stadium on Saturday at 6 p.m.

An exhibition game with Bellevue will be played this evening.

"TWELVE OLD MAIDS"

The Ladies of the United church will stage a playlet entitled "Twelve Old Maids" at the church auditorium on the night of Friday, May the 12th. The playlet is a real laugh maker and no doubt will draw a big crowd.

In addition will be a number of comic sketches and some musical numbers.

Tickets are being sold for twenty-five cents. Get yours now, and save all your laughing energies for that night.

CRANBROOK MUST

RECIPROCATE

The splendid response of the people from Blairmore and Hillcrest to the Cranbrook musical festival deserves the greatest praise, the musical folk of the Pass towns coming here one hundred strong. Their presence was, in a large measure, the success of the festival. The dates of the Blairmore festival have been set for October 30, 31 and November 1. We cannot expect Blairmore to come here in such large numbers and not reciprocate. Cranbrook has an orchestra, the members of which feel that a goodly representation should be present at the Alberta festival. With that end in view, several Cranbrook people have interested themselves in securing funds to send the Cranbrook orchestra to Blairmore. The effort is well worth while and should meet with the hearty approval of all interested in the development of a better class of music.—Cranbrook Courier.

A very enjoyable evening was spent in the Columbus hall on May the 5th, Friday evening last, when the Juvenile Amateur Entertainers gave their first concert. Songs and duets were very nicely rendered by Miss Jenny Mark, Miss Wilma Wheatcroft, Miss Rita Duncan, Miss Phyllis Brookes and Miss Lily Perry. Many pleasing features were on the programme, which helped make the concert a huge success. The concert was under the direction of Mrs. Rowe.

DEMANDS ARE DIFFERENT

Franklin D. Roosevelt is rapidly acquiring more complete control over the affairs of the United States, both domestic and foreign, than has ever been in the hands of a president.

When Mr. Roosevelt says, "close the banks," the banks take a holiday, and when he says open them, they again do business as usual. Roosevelt says: "let there be beer" and there is beer. He demands the passing of a bill to assist farmers and the bill is passed.

His demand for the control of currency gives him the power to expand or contract not only credit but actual paper.

He invites leaders from other countries to converse with him on international and world conditions and they accept his invitation with pleasure.

In a word, President Roosevelt is the man of the hour, not only in the United States, but in world affairs, and so far he appears to be getting along very nicely.

And there isn't a Red "demand," either.

A local man asked for work, and was handed a piece of tough steak.

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

In a fine state of preservation a 70-year-old note of the private banking house of Macarthur and Knowles of Prince Albert, North West Territories, has been found there.

People live to a ripe old age in Victoria. Out of 345 persons buried in Ross Bay Cemetery last year there were 50 more than 80 years of age. Nearly 50 per cent. had reached 70.

Germany has proposed to the world disarmament conference that the British arms plan be amended to provide a maximum calibre of 105 millimetres for mobile guns and to abolish all tanks.

F. J. Burd of the Vancouver Daily Province and a director of the Canadian Press, was re-elected director of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association at the close of the 47th annual convention in New York. Doubtless children to the number of 154, who have been held almost a year in various public institutions at the coast, have been returned to their relatives in the Doukhobor settlements at Nelson.

Pointing-out the railway line has been into Churchill for more than four years, a delegation at The Pas is urging the Manitoba Government to complete a hotel this summer for the accommodation of the travelling public.

The last train that will ever run over the abandoned Canadian Pacific line at Mono Road, Ontario, killed A. Stewart, Toronto, and injured Frank Sandell, whose car was struck by a work train proceeding to tear up the line.

One million trees—mostly spruces and pines—will be planted in Valcartier district by the unemployed men to be stationed there by the Dominion Government this summer. They will be furnished by the Quebec Government.

Reduction in the board and residence fees of Royal Victoria College, women's section of McGill University, was announced. The fees will be reduced from $500 to $450 and the new scale will go into effect at the opening of the next term.

The number of persons in Canada who are receiving direct relief is placed at "over 1,000,000" by Miss Charlotte Whitton, executive director of the Canadian council on child and family welfare, in her report. The monthly cost of this relief, Miss Whitton places at approximately $6,000,000.

Win Strathcona Fellowships

Award To Three Canadians Announced By Yale University

Award of five Strathcona fellowships for the investigation of transportation problems has been announced by Yale University, three of the fellowships being awarded to Canadians.

The recipients are Robert A. Emerson, Morden, Man.; S. Minto Gossage, Montreal; Palmer E. Savage, Montreal; Thomas M. C. Martin, Wapshaw, Wis.; and Lyle R. Shellenbarger, Hopkins, Minn.

Strathcona fellowships were made possible by the bequest of Lord Strathcona, identified with the pioneer days of railroading in Canada. All five successful candidates have had previous railroad experience, two of them being third generation railroad men.

Children Uprooted Trees

Jealous Because They Were Left Out Of Arbor Day Ceremony

Jealous children who were not chosen to assist in an Arbor Day ceremony took their revenge at Ladysmith, South Africa. The town fathers and leading citizens assembled on the sports ground and entertained a number of school children. Lectures on trees were delivered and after the speechmaking the children were entertained with music and refreshments. The mayor and magistrates then each planted a tree, assisted by certain children. Next morning the trees were found uprooted and stripped of their foliage.

Aircraft In Demand

There is practically no depression in Edgware, Middlesex, England. British civil aircraft have proved so popular that the De Havilland aircraft factory has been forced to work a full staff both night and day. The company's business has increased 40 per cent. in recent months and deliveries have fallen away behind orders.

Highway freight services in France are increasing.

Banks in Three Countries

U.S. Operates Under Many Laws, England and Canada Only One

A correspondent has asked the Transcript a question which thousands of people are asking: "Why do we never hear of banks closing their doors in England or Canada, no matter how hard the times?" An historian might favor his answer with humor: "It is because the United States, the most progressive nation on earth, is in this regard about one hundred years behind the procession." While Great Britain has merged her whole commercial banking system into five very strong institutions—Barclays, Lloyds, Provincial, Midland and Westminster—operating throughout the kingdom under but one law and plan of regulation, the United States has thousands and thousands of banks, most of them small units, operating under forty-nine different sets of laws, and forty-nine different regulatory authorities, excellent in some states, as in Massachusetts, but varying from weak to miserable in many others.—Boston Transcript.

Popularity Of Air Travel

Bookings From London To Paris Are Increasing Daily

Before the air liner "City of Liverpool" crashed in flames the number of people flying to France by the Imperial Airways was about 90 a day. Now, after the crash, more than 130 people are travelling to Paris by air every day—and the bookings are still rising.

The bookings for Easter were the largest ever known. Every aeroplane had been duplicated, yet there were no more seats on the ordinary routes for Easter.

More aeroplanes are being added to the services to cope with the surprisingly heavy demand for seats.

"This is by far the greatest demand for air liner seats that we have ever experienced," an Imperial Airways official said to a newspaper representative recently.

MUSIC "HEARD" BY THE DEAF

Here is pictured a remarkable experiment recently conducted at a New York school for the deaf, whereby deaf children were enabled to hear. Instead of trying to make the sound penetrate the ears of the sufferers, this device carried mechanical vibrations through the bones of the head. Countess Olga Albani is shown singing into a microphone as the deaf children listen. This was the first time many of the children had ever heard music.

No More Mass Marriages

New Rector Of St. George's In London, England, Does Not Like Idea

Mass marriages, which have for years been a feature of the Easter festival at the Church of St. George-the-Martyr, Borough High Street, are to be held no more.

For years it has been the custom for young Southwark couples to get married en masse at St. George's on Easter Sunday. Some years there have been as many as ten couples kneeling at the altar at the same time, and one marriage service has married them all. But never again will ten couples be taken such care to place the ring upon the finger of the right bride, nor, after the ceremony, will ten wives run the risk of being kissed by the wrong husband! St. George's has a new rector who does not like the idea of mass marriages. He is the Rev. E. C. Cook, who was formerly Vicar of All Saints', South Lambeth, and has been at Southwark only a few weeks.

"I am determined to have no more mass weddings at St. George's," Mr. Cook said the other day, "and I don't think the young people are at all sorry. One of the chief reasons why several couples were married together was because I saved time, and I don't think the young people themselves specially desired it. When you have a number of couples being married at the same time it is impossible for them to regard the ceremony as a solemn sacrament."—Overseas Daily Mail.

Changing Editorship

Famous Boys' Own Paper To Have New Editor

One of the most famous editorships in the British Empire, that of the Boys' Own Paper, is about to undergo a change. It is only the second change in this position since the paper was founded 54 years ago. Geoffrey Richard Pocklington, who has been editor for the last 11 years, is retiring.

Brought up in a family atmosphere of service to the church and to the army, Mr. Pocklington has been associated with all kinds of movements on behalf of boyhood life for at least 30 years. A generation ago the supremacy of the "B.O.P." amongst papers of its kind was virtually unchallenged, and its following among boys of all ages is still very strong.

How many grey-haired and bald-headed boys of today are grateful to the "B.O.P." for having given them the works of Henty, Kingston, Jules Verne, Talbot, Baines, Reed and Ascott Hope? W. G. Grace, the unapproached in cricket, Captain Webb, the first to swim the Channel, and who was drowned in a attempt to swim the Niagara rapids, wrote for the "B.O.P." and Whympy described his exploits on the Matterhorn in the same pages.

After a checkered career of 33 years Archbishop Abbot's school, Guildford, England, has been closed for lack of funds.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

PRUNE SOUFFLE

12 large prunes.
3 egg whites.
3 tablespoons powdered sugar.

Boil prunes in enough water to cover for one hour. Beat prunes to a pulp after removing pits. Beat the egg whites until stiff, fold in the sugar and then the prune pulp. Turn into a greased baking dish and bake in a slow oven (250 degrees Fahrenheit) about twenty minutes. Serve at once with cream, soft custard or any desired sauce.

JELLIED SHRIMP SALAD

Shrimps and tomatoes, there's a combination for a salad every one will enjoy. It is easy to make, too.

2 cans tomato soup.
1 small can shrimps.
2 tablespoons gelatin.
1 cup cold water.
1 tablespoon sugar.
Salt and pepper.

Heat the tomato soup. Add the sugar, salt and pepper to taste. Soak gelatin in cold water. Add to hot tomato mixture and stir until thoroughly dissolved. Arrange the shrimps in the bottom of a wet mold. Pour in the tomato, being careful not to move the shrimps. Set in a cold place to become firm. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise and a garnish of sliced hard-cooked eggs.

The Iceberg Patrol

Ocean Travelers Think Little Of Precautions Taken For Their Safety

Those who go down to the sea in ships on business or pleasure bent think little of the governmental precautions which protect their journeys. Yet in order that passengers on ocean liners may sleep sound of nights a ship is cruising now in the North Atlantic and experts are testing the direction, speed and volume of the Arctic water as it flows out of Davis Strait past Newfoundland.

There is no certainty in calculating the behaviour of icebergs, but only a reasonable degree of probability to be derived from continued observation. It is for this purpose that the Coast Guard cutter "General Greene" and other vessels keep their lonely patrol in the Arctic seas and send their warnings to liners as they race back and forth between America and Europe—New York Evening Post.

JESUS ASSERTS HIS KINGSHIP

Golden Text: "Behold, thy King cometh unto thee; He is just, and having salvation."—Zechariah 9:9.
Lesson: Mark 11:1-33.
Devotional Reading: Revelation 5:9-13.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus Publicly Claims To Be the Messiah, verses 1-10.—We have come to the solemn entry of Jesus into the Holy City in a triumphal procession for which He deliberately planned. We have heard Him caution some one not to report a "miracle." He has wrought, or charge the disciples to "tell no man that He is the Christ." And after the feeling of the five thousand He escaped to the hills when the people sought to make Him king. He has constantly feared that popular enthusiasm might hinder His mission. Now, however, another purpose is impelling Him to seek publicity, to court the enthusiastic worship of the people, to let the world know that He is the Messiah. He no longer draws interruption to His work. His hour has come.

When in the neighborhood of Bethany and Bethany Jesus sent two of His disciples to secure for Him a colt that had never been ridden. Should their right to the colt be questioned by the owner, all they would need to say was that the Lord hath need of him and would return him. It all happened as Jesus said. The colt was found tied in the street at the door of a house, the disciples were challenged to dismount, and upon replying as they were directed they were allowed to lead the colt away. They threw their loose outer garments upon the colt as a seat for the Royal Rider.

"I beheld the procession descend the mountain bringing him," said the Egyptian to Ben Hur: "I heard them singing. They were beautiful with palms in their hands. I looked everywhere among them for a figure with a promise of royalty—a horseman in purple, a chariot, with a driver in shining brass, a stately warrior behind an orb shield, rivaling his guard in stature. I looked for a king. It would have been pleasant to have seen a prince of Jerusalem and a cohort of the legions of Galilee. Instead of a Caesar helmeted and sworded, I saw a Man, riding an ass' colt."

The manner of His riding into Jerusalem was in keeping with all Jesus' appearing among men. The keynote of it was struck at the very beginning on that first Christmas morn, when the King came as a helpless babe, joined with disabilities of place and family and position in the world. The stable and the manger and all the other conditions of that birthday of Jesus in Bethlehem are only object-commentaries on the essential nature of His character and work. His life was consistent from the manger to the cross. He was the same Prince of Peace in His triumphal entry into Jerusalem as in His humble entry into Bethlehem."—Hugh Black.

Quebec Town Lovers Taxes

Rigid Economy Has Provided Montreal Suburb With Surplus

Among the Quebec municipalities that have maintained balanced budgets through the difficult years of the current economic depression is the town of Mount Royal, a suburb of Montreal. Mayor T. S. Darling of that municipality is not only in a position this year to announce a balanced budget but also a reduction in the tax rate from twelve to eleven mills.

Revenue for the year is estimated at $100,834 against the estimated expenditure of $98,995. The estimated surplus and the tax rate reduction have been made possible, Mayor Darling said, through reducing the town's expenditures on non-essentials and keeping maintenance costs to a minimum.

In its 21 years of existence Mount Royal has not wasted much money on election costs. Mayor Darling has been elected by acclamation for 21 consecutive one-year terms.

Will Visit Grain Show

The Governor-General and Lady Bessborough will be visitors to Regina during the World's Grain Exhibition and conference, it was learned unofficially recently. Word from an authoritative quarter has been received by the Minister in charge of the exhibition stating that their excellencies, on their forthcoming tour, plan to spend a day or two in Regina at the time of the exhibition.

Says Rumor Unfounded

"Of course it is not true," said H. Holding Garden Contest

Undertaking Being Sponsored In Winnipeg By Women's Canadian

Designed to develop a spirit of self-help, and giving seed to the competitors, a garden contest for the unemployed of Winnipeg will be staged this summer by the Winnipeg Women's Canadian Club. The city is divided into 12 zones for the contest and prizes will aggregate $250. Each contestant will also receive 12 tomato plants from the committee. Zone gardening centres will also be established to save the garden products.

Points will be awarded each month for such results as family co-operation, planning, arrangement and maturity; development of growth, when ready for eating; freedom from weeds and apparent yield; appearance, proper thinning and use of thinning; freedom from insects and disease; care of surplus; straightness of rows, utilization of space, condition of crop and use of products in the home.

Cash prizes will be awarded in each district with a grand prize for the city title.

King George Fully Recovered

Taking On Obligations For First Time Since 1928

For the first time since he was taken seriously ill, in 1928, King George has plunged into the affairs and obligations of kingship with all his old-time enthusiasm. Leves, courts, rare meetings, theatre attendances, troop inspections and yachting are among the things listed in the royal engagement book for this spring and summer, and this very heavy program is taken as an indication that the King is now restored to his full health and vigor.

Even the watchfulness of the royal physicians has been relaxed and the King was recently seen out without hat or topcoat. His Majesty, it is said, has never cared for the constant medical supervision exercised over him since his illness, and has been only too glad to point to his renewed health as a reason for the relaxation of this attention.

In a recent compensation claim case in Manchester, England, the judge ruled that a policeman is not a worker.

How to get to SLEEP

When you can't sleep, it's because your nerves won't let you. Don't waste time "counting sheep." Don't lose half your needed rest in reading. Take two tablets of Aspirin, drink a glass of water—and go to sleep.

This simple remedy is all that's needed to insure a night's rest. It's all you need to relieve a headache during the day—or to dispose of other pains. Get these Aspirin tablets and you will get immediate relief.

Aspirin dissolves immediately—gets to work without delay. This desirable sleep is not dangerous; it does not depress the heart. Just be sure you get Aspirin tablets.

For a moment, groping about to retrieve his blunder, Buzzard hardly knew what to say or do. There had been no mistake; he had seen that incident with his own eyes when he glanced through the window to find where Alan was. He debated whether to draw back from his statement or to plunge ahead and tell the rest of it—Joyce's momentary battle, the shudder that swept her whole body when she put the scarf into the stove, and the quick blinding tears that she dashed away.

He thought: "Better not get any deeper into this. I'd only blunder again. Better back out entirely."

He stammered: "I might have made a mistake. I might—uh—might have been the wrapping paper. I just merely saw her put—uh—something into—and I jumped to conclusions."

Must have been the wrapper. Why would any person want to burn up a gift like that? Let's forget it."

His tones carried no conviction. He realized it himself. Alan disbelieved him; Alan knew Joyce had burned the scarf he gave her.

Cursing himself hotly, Buzzard looked out across the purpling river. He had meant only to see, and he had dealt Alan a savage pitiless blow. After a little time Alan said to him:

"You'd better go up, Buzzard; she may be waiting for you."

"Aren't you going?"

"No—not now; I don't much care. . . . I don't want supper."

Something in his voice warned Buzzard not to urge him. As he turned away, Alan said, in the tones of a man who has made some hard and abiding decision:

"When you're had supper, come back down here; I'll help you with that work; we'll do it now, so we can get away early. I was thinking—for this evening—something else. But that's out now. . . ."

W. N. E. 1593

Buzzard lifted the plane out of the Big Alooska. With Alan directing him, he headed due-north.

One hundred and thirty miles away, nearly four hundred miles from Fort Endurance, a small tribe of Tinnies lived along the western fringe of the Thal-Azash. They were a timid, skulking, ineffective band, shrouded into a region where other tribes scorned to live. Dave MacMillan had been their friend and they brought him their furs, and Alan, during his years at Endurance, had sent a protective patrol to them twice a year.

Joyce had found out where they were spending this summer; and Alan had a mission with their old headman, Mugwa-Ethen.

When the timber country began yielding to lakes and semi-nuskeg, he got out his glasses and started searching ahead for their camp. At a height of five thousand feet he could sweep a region of more than two hundred thousand acres. The eyes of an eagle, the wings of a bullet-swept courier, and that big-barreled Browning machine gun—through luck and driving purpose and a faith in his dubious plan, he had smashed through obstacles till now he held the power and heavy odds over those bandits.

The sure knowledge of this was about all that was left to him. His work in the Mounted, his life here in the North, were both gone; and Buzzard's cataclysmic words last evening had showed him that his secret hope toward Joyce had been a fool's hope, a fool's joyful thinking.

How low he must have fallen in her estimation, that she should burn his gift to her! At first it had seemed a little cruel of Joyce to do that. But then he looked at the incident with relentless honesty, and he could not blame her. Once he and she had planned to marry. People had spoken of it; it had been generally accepted along the River. She had liked him, loved him. What must her feelings have been as she watched his relations with Elizabeth, and saw him engaged to another girl and coming no more to the Big Alooska? She must have felt shame, a burning shame, at being jilted. Month after lonely month of that—it had been an outrage to her girlhood. Nothing she could do to him could be so heartless as what he had done to her.

Through the propeller disk he at last sighted the Indian camp, a cluster of brown leather tents beside a lake where the band was passing the summer near their fish-weirs. Buzzard roared over the camp and banked to alight. Old Mugwa-Ethen, a gaunt and wrinkled old savage, stalked up and gravely bade them welcome.

After this flood season of heavy rains, Alan knew there were a few acres in the watery wilderness of the Thal-Azash where a party of men could camp. He himself had only a hazy idea where those areas lay; but this old headman, Mugwa-Ethen, Who-Follows-the-Caribou, had lived his life along the border of that great marsh and knew it better than any man alive, and could probably give him a pretty definite idea where to look.

Very wisely, Joyce had kept from letting the nominal bands know anything about it, because the Shagalesha maintained pride in the huge a territory largely through their reputation of never failing, and the news of their stinging defeat would do incalculable harm. Joyce had not even told old Mugwa-Ethen.

After about an hour of silence, in guttural Tinnish Alan began sketching the story of the robbery and battle. As he told of the bandits escaping up the Alooska, he noticed that the old chief suddenly became all interested.

Alan looked at him keenly. "Something's up," he thought. "I've stumbled onto something." He demanded: "When I was two three breaths ago you start like nit buck. Why?"

Drawing a crude map of the Thal-Azash with his bony forefinger, the old headman sprang his astounding news.

Ten years ago, he said, Tukook and another young buck had gone westward into the Land of Many Waters to locate the camp for autumn trapping. One evening they heard the boom-boom of fire-sticks far away southwest. Slipping up, timid, cautious, they saw some strange men shooting wavers for food. They saw a tent, a camp on an island. . . .

For several minutes, fighting the scruple of a wild station, Alan forced himself to crouch there, asking questions, fixing that map and that spot unforgetfully in his mind.

At the wigwam he rejoined Bill. "Come on! Let's be getting into the air! An hour and a half from now we'll be saying it with a machine gun. When we flew up here we brought our luck along!"

From his height of three thousand feet, reading the country spread below him, Alan could follow the crude finger map without once being in doubt. . . . That should be the great blue-water lake which Mugwa-Ethen had described. It should have islands in the center of it. . . . On one of the islands near the north edge of the cluster the bandits should be camped, if they had not moved on.

"Swing north!" he shouted at Buzzard. "Those islets there to themselves."

The machine swerved and thundered closer. One by one Alan started to search the five. On the first one, nothing. On the second, nothing. But on the third . . . He started suddenly as he caught that center one in clear focus. Below them on that center island, conspicuous to their sky patrol, stood a solitary dirty white tent.

After a few moments Alan had presence of mind again. He leaned forward and shouted instruction: "Drop down to a thousand feet. Fly over that island again, slow. Want to study it carefully before we start things."

Buzzard dropped down, swung around. As the plane sailed over a second time, Alan drew the island up to him studying the tent sharply. He saw a movement of the flap-front and distinguished a man's face, upturned, peering at them.

One bandit there at least! But the others? . . .

A guess shot into his mind: Those others had probably gone hunting for caribou over east at the foule.

As though that watcher there below realized what this ominous circling meant and had become panicky, a puff of white, a single puff, burst from the flap-front. Confident the man was alone and the others were gone, Alan decided to take this bandit alive. He needed information about the others, and information about that pack of furs to clear Dave MacMillan.

While Buzzard circled at a safe distance, he tore a page from a memo book and printed a message:

"If you shoot again, we'll splatter you and that island into the lake with our machine gun. Stand out in the clear. No weapons on you. Don't try any crooked move after we light."

He wrapped the message around a monkey-wrench and handed it to Buzzard. From wartime practice of dropping "eggs" on ammunition dumps and second-trench Flammenwerfer and snuffing batteries of Krupp 77's east of Verdun, with no aerial sights except two nails and a string along the fuselage, Buzzard was a good judge of speed, altitude and the right split-second to release. Whirling over the island, a few hundred yards up, he planted the missile within a dozen paces of the flap-front.

As they looked back they saw the man run out to it, read the message, hesitate a moment, and then raise his left arm, waving something white.

A pistol-shot off the island the plane lighted. Buzzard stayed in the canvas canoe, slipped automatics into their pockets, took rifles prominently in hand and went ashore.

While Bill searched the bandit for a hidden revolver, Alan looked at him curiously. He was a strange character, to find in this country. Stant-eyed, his skin olive, he looked as though he had oriental blood in his veins. The rag he had waved in token of surrender was a sling. His right arm dangled limp at his side.

Alan demanded: "Are you the fellow we hit in that fight?"

"Chink" Woolley nodded.

"Are those other men out hunting?" Alan asked, "or where?"

Woolley batted his eyes slowly, as though taking thought. "Huntin', yes," he managed.

"Which way?"

"North-east."

High Above the Clouds

Test Balloons Sent Up From Airport at Calgary

Canada's knowledge of conditions in the stratosphere high above the clouds has been enriched by recovery of nine of 16 meteorological balloons released from the Calgary airport since last August.

Announcement of the recovery of the balloons was made by Lieut.-Commander C. H. Bromley, representative of the Dominion meteorological service at Calgary, who released two of the balloons each month. The tests, in conjunction with other work being carried on as Canada's share in the international polar year—investigations, will be continued until the close of the polar year in August of this year.

Nine miles above the earth—a mile short of the height reached by Professor August Piccard in his balloon ascension to investigate the stratosphere—was the highest any of the balloons released here reached. Some expanded and burst when only three miles high, but the average altitude reached was 40,000 feet—almost eight miles.

Appointed a Deputy

King George Got Out of a Difficulty Created Long Ago

In connection with the annual Easter vestry meetings it is recalled that about 150 years ago the King was elected church warden. It was George III, who was given this distinction by the famous London church, St. Martin-in-the-Fields, but his majesty did not take it as a compliment and refused to serve.

Buckingham Palace being in the parish church members at a vestry meeting, probably moved by some freakish whim, named the King as the people's warden for a year. The matter was referred to the court, and led to a threat to take action at law to compel him to do so. The question as to how far the sovereign in his private capacity might be bound to undertake such duties was left out of the difficulty by accepting election and then appointing a deputy.

Age Of Technocracy

Machine Power Shown To Be Much Cheaper Than Man Power

The Montreal Alderman relief committee has set out to determine just what are the differences between man-power and machine-power in labor, and here are some of the results:

1. One mechanical truck loader and operator will do 52 men's work.
2. Loader fills a truck in five minutes; the gang requires from 40 to 60 minutes.
3. Cost per truck; Loader, 60 cents; gang, $20.40.
4. Cost per truck; Loader, 12 cents; gang, between $2 and $4.

These preliminary data will be checked in a more extended experiment on a pipe-laying job next. The test grew out of the demand that labor-saving machines be done away with and unemployed laborers substituted.

Contentment Without Riches

Man Found Peace in Life After Fortune Was Gone

In Newton, Iowa, is a man, Frank F. Falor, 74, who has lived three lives.

At 27 he was known as the richest cattle and purebred swine breeder in the middle west. He wore a silk topper, drove fast horses, and to do his neighbors beyond possible doubt, hired negro servants to wait on him. That was Life No. 1.

Shortly his success faded. He became penniless, and turned reclusive, a man disgruntled with life, gloomy and soured with mankind. That was Life No. 2.

He became interested in religion and began to practise it conscientiously. His interests broadened and he started growing flowers about his little shack. He had started Life No. 3.

Today, tucked away in greenhouses, the gleaming glass roofs of greenhouses at the outskirts of Newton is the same shack. It has been so built over and around with flower houses and other buildings devoted to floriculture and gardening that few persons realize its presence.

Falor still lives in the shack, although he is worth more now, measured by the financial yardstick, than he ever was in Life No. 1.

Falor said he had learned that success and failure, after all, were relative matters, but that peace of mind and happiness were important fragments of life which every person owed to himself.

Little Helps For This Week

He has kept and folded us from ten thousand miles when we did not know it. In the midst of our security we should have perished every hour but that He sheltered us "from the terror by night and the arrow that a flieth by day"—from the powers of evil that walk in darkness. From snarls of our own evil will. He has kept us even from ourselves and saved us from our own undoing. Let us read the traces of His hand in all our ways, in all the events, the changes and chances of this troubled state. It is He that folds and feeds us, that makes us to go in and out,—to be faint or find pasture, to lie down by the still waters, or to walk by the way that is parched and desert.—H. E. Manning.

Reciprocal Trade Agreement

Reciprocal trade and tariff concessions between Great Britain and Germany Over Limited Field

Reciprocal trade and tariff concessions between Germany and Great Britain were announced recently. The quota for British coal exports to Germany has been nearly doubled and in return the United Kingdom makes tariff concessions over a limited field.

The announcement of arrangements of increased trade with Germany follows upon an earlier statement declaring a new trade agreement with Denmark by which Great Britain's market in Denmark for her industrial products will be greatly increased in return for increased quotas granted to Danish dairy and agricultural products.

Slaughter Of Wild Life

Man's Love Of Sport and Woman's Vanity Are Blamed

Dr. A. H. B. Kirkman, secretary for wild life, University of London Animal Welfare Society, speaking at a meeting recently, entered a protest against cruelty to animals and birds. Vain women, ignorant gamekeepers, egg collectors and certain unjustifiable medical purposes were to blame, he said, for cruelty to countless numbers of animals and birds.

There were at least 100,000,000 pelts entering the different markets of the world, excluding moles, rabbits and muskrats. In 1928, and 3,500,000 skins were exported from Australia alone. "The vanity of women," he said, "is partly responsible for this slaughter, but in connection with the persecution of animals and birds generally I think the sporting instincts, as they call them, of men are as much at fault. In Sumatra families of the orang-utan are being caught by natives and sent to other countries to be used for certain medical purposes which are absolutely unjustifiable. They are a dying race of animals for the most part."

Curse Of High Tariffs

World Has Been Going Crazy Over Raising Trade Barriers

Tariffs throughout the world come down. Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, said in the House of Commons recently. Action, however, must be taken on a world-wide scale and it would be suicide for Canada, or any other single country to lower its tariffs while high duties are maintained by the rest of the world.

"I believe there is such a thing as going crazy over tariffs," said the minister, and think that is what the world has done."

Dr. Manion made his tariff comment by way of an aside as he was plotting amendments to the railway bill through the House. E. J. Young, veteran free trade Liberal from Weyburn, Sask., had just accused low railway earnings to trade barriers and the minister agreed the reopening of channels of trade now closed would give the railway business a better chance.

MUSIC HAS CHARMS

Chancellor Adolph Hitler, of Germany, is trying to enforce a movement to stop jazz music from being broadcasted over the air. Some people may say that it is wrong to do such a thing, but we honestly think that this is a step in the right direction. When all is said and done, how long does jazz music last? Why, it is all the waste today and can get nothing else over the radio; and tomorrow it is gone, never more to return, with only one person to mourn its passing, that one person being the composer or author of that certain piece of jazz. Good music never passes away—there is something which seems to cling to us, something in good music that impresses itself in our memory and stays there, and has always the power of attraction whenever we hear it played. We would like at this time to compliment the Knights of Pythias for their endeavor to further the cause of placing good music in every town and home by sponsoring the festival that we had in Cranbrook during the latter part of last week, which seems to unite the best of music lovers together. We would also like to congratulate the artists both old and young for their splendid work, which was highly appreciated by all. When it comes to an event like a musical festival, jazz music is never heard, which goes to show that it is not music of the first water. No—

Jazz music may come,
Jazz music may go
But good music goes on forever.—Cranbrook Courier.

OBSERVATIONS BY F. J. S.

F. J. S. in "Some Observations" in the Cranbrook Courier gets off this, Hurrah! for all the contestants who took part in the musical festival, but especially so for that splendid aggregation of musicians who came down from the Crows' Nest Pass. They surprised everyone, even to the adjudicator. That locality flourishes in fiddlers, and good ones, like Denmark is noted for her cheese and butter, and Durham in England for her Durham cattle. We have often heard of "Fiddlers' Green," but never quite spotted its exact location until we listened to these artists from down around Blainmore, Hillcrest and Coleman. Noticed a fine spirit of Jonathan and David friendship prevailing between these visitors in their orchestra competitions. When Blainmore played, the cello was handled by the conductor of the Hillcrest orchestra, and then when the Hillcrest orchestra was doing its stuff, there to our surprise was the Blainmore conductor with the 'cello, playing with all the skill and vim that he would have employed in his own orchestra. Such a thing may have happened before, some time, some place; but if so, we have never heard of it.

Soviet Russia will sow 500,000 acres of wheat, rye and rice by this spring. If they will confine themselves to this and cease sowing discord in other countries, they will also harvest a better reputation.

Local district annual sports are to be held here tomorrow, in which pupils of Bellevue, Hillcrest, Coleman, Pincher Creek, Frank and Blainmore schools will compete. The event is being held here this year owing to ideal track facilities. The local athletic grounds will be in excellent condition. It is hoped the weather man will look upon us favorably.

CANADIAN COALSPROVE SUITABLE

"More than 100,000 tons of coal from the Sydney area, Nova Scotia, may be used annually by the Montreal Coke and Manufacturing Company to replace coal hitherto imported. This potential consumption of Canadian coal in place of imported coal has been demonstrated by exhaustive coking and sto. age tests conducted jointly by the Montreal Company, and by the Fuel Testing Division of the Department of Mines, Ottawa. At present the Nova Scotia coal is being used as a blend with imported coals; and does not in any way interfere with the particular quality (high fusible ash) of the coke placed on the market heretofore. A resume of the tests is contained in the report of activities of the Department's Fuel Research laboratories, during the years 1930 and 1931.

The report also describes tests made on Michel coal from the Crowns-Pass area, British Columbia, both at Ottawa and at the Winnipeg Electric Company's plant at Winnipeg. These tests show that the 10,000 tons of imported coal used annually by the company can be entirely replaced with the Michel coal, under existing conditions. Expectations are that the company will eventually draw all of its coal requirements from Canadian mines.

Twenty-seven coals were tested in the experimental pulverized fuel boiler, twelve of which were from British Columbia, eleven from Alberta, and three from different lots of lignite from Onakwana in northern Ontario. All the coals tested were found satisfactory for use as pulverized fuel.

The question was asked at the Coleman school last week: "What's the difference between Mayor Knight and his council and the future?" And the answer came from a kiddie, seven years and three months of age: "The future sometimes looks bright."

Already this season, the Blainmore Motors and Crows' Nest Pass Motors have landed about six carloads of Plymouths, Chryslers and Chevrolets here. In addition, the Red Trail Motors have handled quite a number of Fords.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sommers were in Michel last week end to attend the funeral of Mr. Sommers's sister-in-law, who died in the Peace River country. The late Mrs. Sommers was a former employee of the Trillium Wood Co. at Michel.

We are asked to make a correction in connection with the Cranbrook festival prize awards, as contained in our last week's issue. Evan Gushul, of Blainmore, secured third place in violin under 17, and tied for third with Roy Upton in Grade A violin open.

The marriage of Miss Ivy May Johnson, of the North Fork, to Frederick Johnson, of Lundbreck, was solemnized by Rev. Roy Taylor at Coleman on April the 25th. Jack Ball and Miss Jean Pattinson, were attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside in Lundbreck.

E. F. Gare, formerly connected with the Coleman Miner newspaper at Coleman, who has of late resided at Saskatoon, passed through Coleman last week, enroute to Vancouver, accompanied by Mrs. Gare and family. At Coleman they met many old friends and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Flynn.

Little Mabel's mother had caught a cold, and, as a precautionary measure, she resorted to that old-fashioned remedy—a glass of hot whisky. A little later Mabel was taken to bed, and, as she kissed her mother, a look of reproach crept into her eyes. "Mother," she said solemnly, "you've been using father's scent."

Chapman Camp note in Kimberley Press: A large camp contingent took in the dance at Cranbrook last Friday night at the conclusion of the basketball finals, which resulted in two clips coming home to Kimberley. An enormous crowd attended the dance, it being estimated that over 300 were there. A Blainmore orchestra, whose members were competing in the festival, delighted the crowd with snappy selections.

Japan has given notice of her intention to withdraw from the League. "She cannot do so," says The Manchester Guardian, "for two years and then only a ter fulfilling her obligations... One of these obligations is that she should undo the wrong which she has done to China in Manchuria and Jehol." It is contended that Japan needs area for her expanding population. It is to such outworn methods so barbarous and brutal that exception is taken.—Ex.

The business people of Blainmore are evidently being blamed for the unemployment which exists here, and consequently are being penalized. Some of the single unemployed are only a few months out of high school, where the bulk of the cost of their education was paid for by merchants and those who have spent a large portion of their savings in the establishment of respectable-looking homes. Now these undergraduates, who have not yet forgotten the napkins, can boast of "making the town and willing to help break it."

Perhaps Austria is where the term "taxoline" came from. At any rate, taxes on gasoline amounting to 24 cents a gallon, plus other fees, have resulted in 16,500 Austrian automobile owners turning in their license plates in three months—a clear case of how the government can kill the goose that coughs up the shekels. And this is very similar to what is liable to happen in Blainmore if Mayor Knight's ideas were carried fully into effect. He has stated that the proposed stiff business tax is intended to keep other business people out of Blainmore and thereby protect those that are here. And really, with such taxation as proposed, why pay any business man, except those who have escaped the boycott, to put out to some community that has no administration.

We met a lady on the street yesterday, who complained of the desperate weather and the fact that she was suffering from a terrible cold. She stated that she almost felt like asking the all-powerful Blainmore town council to change the moon.

At a meeting of a local organization on Friday last, mention was made of what fast workers some of the local unemployed are when they get the chance, and it was unanimously decided to present those qualified with lounge sweaters and pillows.

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mrs. J. R. Warner on Saturday afternoon, in honor of Sis. Robinson, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Alberta. Tea was served to a number of Rebekahs, Sis McVey, P.N.G., and Sis C. Fraser, P.N.G., pouring tea and Sis. Houghton ably assisted in serving.

A very pleasant evening was spent by Rebekahs and a number of Odd-fellow affiliates at the regular meeting of Crowfoot Rebekah Lodge on Thursday night last, when the beautiful Rebekah degree was exemplified, followed by an inspiring address by Sister Robinson, of Stettler, president of the Alberta Rebekah Assembly. Quite a number of Rebekahs were present from Coleman and Bellevue—in all, upwards of sixty ladies being in attendance. Luncheon followed, and about two hours of dancing.

May Day was celebrated at Lundbreck by the Women's Institute entertaining the school children on the afternoon of Monday, May 1, in the Lundbreck hall. The children, under the direction of Mrs. Grove, Miss Walters and Miss Smith, gave a short but pleasing programme of music and songs. The programme opened with the singing of The Maple Leaf. Selections on the piano were played by Helen Swanson, Maude Mitchell and Winifred Smith. Chorus and action songs, "Dancing With the Fairies" and "Tripping Thru the Daisies," were given by a group of little girls in flower costumes. At the conclusion of the programme ice cream and cakes were served the children, each child receiving a favor. This is the tenth annual May Day entertainment given the school children by the Lundbreck Women's Institute.

We know that a lot of people think that our ideas are crazy, but the peculiar part of it is, they frequently read or hear the same idea expounded by someone else placed in a position of authority, and accept the whole thing without equivocation or mental reservation of any kind. Cootie has hammered away at his monetary ideas in Ottawa till he has gathered a large following. BUT, when it comes to voting they are so far off subject to the party whip. However, this is but a mere phase in constitutional evolution and it looks as if Cootie is in the advanced rank of the world's thinkers on matters of national finance. Roosevelt is doing what Cootie has wanted Bennett to do for the past three years; and in the eyes of the world and of the American people in particular, Roosevelt is a veritable savior.—Clareholm Local Press.

The idea of threatening to boycott The Enterprise because of doing its duty in making necessary criticism of the doings of the town council or any other organization is just as silly as the suggestion that we should quit publishing because the mayor or anyone else didn't act as we wished in their love or business affairs.

WHAT CRANBROOK HAD TO SAY OF FESTIVAL

The Knights of Pythias have scored another achievement. Their third annual musical festival held in Cranbrook last week-end eclipsed their former endeavors, and the movement has grown until it is becoming somewhat of a worry to the festival committee. Paradoxical as it may seem, the festival movement has been on the ascendancy during the very same years that business conditions have been decidedly on the descendancy.

It was a great three-day event, and one that furnished both education and entertainment for over two thousand people in the city and surrounding country. That the visitors were pleased would be putting it mildly. They were delighted.

Contestants came from as far east as Hillcrest and as far west as Proctor, and from all of the surrounding cities and towns between, and the winners of cups, shields and certificates were also widely scattered. Cranbrook and Kimberley ran heavily to vocalists, while Blairmore and Hillcrest were outstanding in orchestra work and with stringed instruments.

William R. Anderson, the adjudicator, voiced surprise many times over the number of string competitions. In all his experience in England never had he met with anything nearly approaching it.

The Cranbrook City orchestra and George Kerr, of Blairmore, received the highest marks of any competitors. Each received 90 marks. The Blairmore orchestra received 89. Miss M. Jarvis, of Proctor, and Billie Richardson, of Kimberley, tied with 88.

Naturally, Cranbrook is proud of the accomplishments of her orchestra, and its accomplishment not only reflects credit on its members, but also on the efficient and painstaking work of Mr. William Raven, the conductor and instructor. This competition was one of the best of the festival, for there was keen but friendly rivalry between this organization, the Blairmore Concert orchestra, conducted by J. E. Upton, and the Hillcrest String orchestra, conducted by W. H. Moser. All were good and their markings were close. The Cranbrook orchestra deserves special praise, for it has only been organized and been practicing for some six months.

The Orpheus choir, of Kimberley, under the direction of George McIntyre; the Anglican church choir, of Cranbrook, under the direction of A. E. Turner, and the Cranbrook Choral Society, under the direction of David Morgan, gave brilliant performances, as did also the Blairmore and Hillcrest string quartettes, the Fernie Male Quartette, and the Sullivan Male Quartette, of Kimberley. Another keen contest was that between J. S. Manson, of Cranbrook, and Ian Douglas, of Kimberley, in the Men's Vocal Challenge competition.—Cranbrook Courier.

Added to the events already mentioned in these columns, it might be stated that the Hillcrest Concert Party won first place against Kimberley Orpheus Choir and the Cranbrook Choral Society; while the Blairmore Concert Party and Hillcrest String Orchestra took second and third places in their class respectively. Lorraine Olivier, of Creston, formerly of Blairmore, attained first place in elocution under 13, being awarded 85 marks.

Major awards brought to this district included the following: George Anton Shield for male choir, Hillcrest Concert Party; East Kootenay Musical Festival Cup for instrumental championship, James Wright Marshall, Hillcrest; Gyro Club Shield for junior orchestra, Blairmore Junior Orchestra; Fink Mercantile Co. Cup for highest points in violin solo work, 17, 14 and 11 years, George Kerr, Blairmore.

Winners by towns: Cranbrook 9, Kimberley 4, Blairmore 2, Hillcrest 2, Proctor 2, Lumberton 1.

Cecil Altham, formerly of Hillcrest, and Ralph Townsend have leased the business and property of the Speedway Garage and service station at Macleod.

World Co-operation In Prospect

Events of the past few weeks have concentrated attention on the interdependence of the nations of the world, and by their promise of a general attack on the world's problems of the hour, have injected new hope in suffering humanity that at last a serious effort is being made to cure the ills which have prostrated the world economic system. Conversations of leading statesmen at Washington, definite assurance that the world economic conference will be held in London next month, the prospect that solution will be found in reciprocal tariff arrangements and adoption of an international monetary unit, have had immediate beneficial effect in the markets of the world, and appear to have restored some of the confidence lost in the crash of 1929 and the bitter years since.

Canada, in particular, faces the task of committing its new crop to the fertile soil with a renewed optimism and a higher courage. Assurance from Washington and Ottawa of reciprocal agreements in the offing that will tend to reopen channels of trade long made barren and unproductive by prohibitive tariff barriers, have produced a most welcome reaction in the Prairie West. Confronted with this looms possibility of an easing of the general trade situation in Continental Europe, where Canadian wheat has found continually increasing obstacles to overcome—obstacles created by local fears and narrow prejudices. The movement toward world co-operation bears with it also the harbinger of such conditions as will make effectively beneficial the Empire trade agreements consummated at Ottawa, last year. With these auspicious circumstances encouraging him, no wonder the Prairie Farmer sows higher hopes with his seed this year!

The idea that an international problem can only be tackled successfully in an international way, was long in penetrating the minds of many world statesmen. This may have been due to the fact that statesmen are proverbially hesitant of moving in advance of public opinion—and it is a fact that public opinion, since the war, nurtured on fears and despondencies, has been notoriously nationalistic in sentiment in virtually every civilized country. In consequence, the nations have sparred defensively to evade disarmament, despite the general abhorrence of war; and have erected tariff barriers in the futile hope of developing self-contained national economies, despite the fact that a customs port may be more provocative than a concrete fort. The resultant stimulation of animosities has tended to retard concerted action upon the economic problems; but the strangulation of world trade with its accompaniment of widespread unemployment and almost universal suffering, has finally served to awaken general realization of the essential interdependence of nations, and recognition of the fact that the only path to recovery lies through co-operation. Even France, with all her hoards of gold, has been forced recently to borrow $150,000,000 from England to buttress the franc, demonstrating that in this day and generation no country is so organized as to be able to live off itself alone.

Generally speaking, therefore, it may be said that the world at last has become internationally-minded; and that is a sign that common-sense is reasserting itself. In Germany alone would there appear to be a reactionary movement towards a narrower nationalism, but the movement in Germany is capable of a dual interpretation. It may be true that Herr Hitler and his Nazi army have resurrected some of the more subversive characteristics of Prussian "junkernism" in their so-called "bloodless revolution"; but it is also true that Herr Hitler has evinced a willingness to negotiate with other nations of the world not only in matters of trade and commerce but also in matters of armaments. The new Germany, therefore, while driven along in a narrow nationalistic regimentation by men imbued with the "administrative ideas of a sergeant-major" (as Guadalupe would say), is awake to the necessity of co-operation in the wider field of world politics and trade in the interests of world peace and world prosperity. That is to say, the rigors of the Nazi discipline would appear to be fundamentally protective of the German commonwealth against the peril within the gates rather than aimed at any imaginary peril from without. In any case, the German internal situation does not necessarily impair prospects of a successful solution of the world economic problem, nor weaken hopes of a restoration of normal trade relations among the countries of the world.

British Authority Says Cinderella's Slippers Were Fur and Not Glass

Cinderella's slippers, popularly supposed to have been made of glass, really were made of fur, according to Sir Gerald Wollaston, garter king-of-arms and an authority on heraldry. He told members of the Royal Society of Arts that the slipper was made of "vair," which is heraldic fur of white and blue. The other idea, he said, came from a confusion with the French "verre," meaning glass.

Not So Good

A farmer's son once decided to be a lawyer. His father drove him into town and got him a job as office boy to a law firm. Three days later the young fellow was back home again. "Well, Josh, how do you like the law?" his father asked. "Aw, it ain't what it's cracked up to be," said the boy. "I'm sorry I ever learned it."

Hold Meetings By Telephone

Post Office In London, England, Gives Unique Service

So that business men in widely separated towns can hold a joint conference without travelling, the general post office in London, England, has arranged for simultaneous telephone connection.

The matter is arranged simply by informing the post office that certain specified people in, say, London, Manchester, Leeds and Glasgow are required at a definite time. The general post office links them up and they can then hear the voices of all the others and do their business as though they all sat in one room.

Nervous—Could Not Sleep Tired Out All The Time

Mrs. George Berliner, Nawigawank, N.B., writes: "I was so very nervous I could not sleep at night, and felt tired out all the time. A neighbor told me about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and so she was using them at the time she gave me some to try. I found they were doing me so much good I procured two boxes and they proved of wonderful help to me."

House Had Gold Ceiling

Residence Of Former Chicago Bank Director Sold By Auction

The famous house with the 14-carat gold-ceilinged smoking room, lined with morocco leather—a house so luxuriously furnished it would have done credit to a fabulously wealthy Indian Maharajah—has gone on the auction block at Chicago.

It was the home of Frank A. Mulholland, real estate operator and a former director in the chain of twelve defunct Bain banks, who was indicted with other officials of the financial institutions.

The house, situated in exclusive Beverly Hills, was one of the show places of the section.

The building contains eleven rooms and sold along with it were the costly furnishings which included a beautiful hand-carved antique dining room suite of walnut, and French wainscot leather seats.

HAS LOST FAT FOR THREE YEARS

68 lbs. Gone Altogether

A woman writes: "For nearly three years I have been taking Kruschen Salts every morning in hot water, and have lost 68 lbs. of fat. My weight before taking them was 196 lbs., and it is now 128 lbs. Compare the difference—it is marvellous. My mother and sister are also taking Kruschen Salts for their friends, and think they are wonderful. As regards diet, it is not necessary to do one little bit of anything in case I have never denied myself anything since I started taking Kruschen Salts. I eat everything I do not eat many potatoes or much sugar. I don't think I shall ever be grateful enough to Kruschen Salts for the great help they have been to me, and shall never stop taking them, or recommending them to people I think need them."—(Miss) K. T.

Taken every morning, Kruschen effects a perfectly natural clearance of undigested food substances and all excessive watery waste matter. Unless this wastage is regularly expelled, Nature will eventually store it up in the form of the ugly fat.

Need More Cattle Steamers

Western Brokers Claim Only Six Available For Trade

Neglect of the Dominion Government to subsidize ocean trips to enter the Canadian cattle trade is strongly resented at Winnipeg. Brokers point out that only six tramp steamers are available to this trade, that two British companies have chartered these boats and that the tramp steamer owners some months ago offered to pay half the cost of fitting up the boats to carry cattle if the Dominion Government would pay the other half.

The Dominion Government was silent on this issue. Today, as a consequence, the Canadian cattle export trade is limited only by the capacity of these steamers to carry cattle. They are scheduled to carry 450 each every three weeks to Britain all summer which will mean that a maximum for the year of 45,000 will be exported.

Canada could easily export 100,000 head it is claimed. The cost of fitting a boat is about $12 per head of cattle capacity. A boat big enough to take 500 head would cost $6,000. A boat to carry 400 head would cost $4,800.

Completes Twelve-Year Task

Priest-Artist's Paintings Adorn Walls Of Gravelbourg Hospital

Magr. Chas. Maillard, priest-artist, has completed twelve years' labor in painting religious pictures adorning the walls of Gravelbourg hospital.

His "Way of the Cross," just finished, consists of fourteen life-size paintings placed around the church porch. They are rich in colours, beautiful and of aesthetic value. In addition to the religious pictures, the priest-artist, of regularity and balance of ideas are found in his work. They come from the mind of an artist, who has painted the apologetic, dogmatic and moral doctrine of the Christian faith.

Impressed By Visit

British Vice-Admiral Gives Account Of Trip To Canada

Vice-Admiral Francis Wade Caulfield gives a breezy account of a six-week's visit to Canada in his report as president of the association of retired naval officers.

"A small property near Vancouver was recently turned over to me. Affairs connected with this property or settlement (called Caulfield) after my father, who bought it as a virgin forest and started to develop it at the end of the last century) necessitated a trip through Canada to the Pacific coast, and so, incidentally, gave me the opportunity of meeting A.R.N.O. members of whom, in September, there were 24 scattered between Nova Scotia and Alaska. It was a strenuous, but splendid six weeks. The welcome given me everywhere was something not to be forgotten, and I should like to take this opportunity of once again thanking my various hosts and hostesses for their charming hospitality and the truly delightful and extraordinarily interesting time they gave me.

"One member, working on a farm for his approaching university degree) was pitching corn, another was running a ferry, another was perched on top of a sort of Eiffel Tower as fire 'look-out' in the forest area of Ontario. A fourth member owned and worked a 20 acre fruit farm. As yet, why the branches were breaking with their load, and hardly a tree but carried 2,000, some nearly 5,000 apples; whilst a fourth 'J.P.' in the Rocky Mountains, and friend and counsellor of the whole of his little community, in fact, his word 'went,' and little was done in his district without the knowledge and approval of 'The Commander'."

"Everyone who was dependent on pension or English income was being badly hit, the pound sterling having dropped from $4.86 to $3.80 and 'servants' were becoming a luxury. I was amazed, however, to find how comfortable and happy a family can be in a house sans servants, but fitted with the latest appliances—cheap electricity, and a cheerful and efficient housewife.

Support Land Scheme

Regina To Participate In Provincial Decision To Buy Land

Decision to participate in the provincial government's back to the land scheme was reached by Regina city council recently, although some criticism was directed to two points in the scheme. Protested points were that the cost per family will be higher this year than last, and the change of policy of the government this year compared with that in effect last year.

Under this year's scheme the municipality participating in the plan is required to agree to undertake to contribute one-third of the expenditure per family up to $400 and, further, to assume one-third of an excess expenditure over $400 but limited to an additional $200.

Last year the cost to the city per family was $100 and some aldermen felt those who went out under last year's plan would have ground for objection to an advantage given to those going under this year's plan.

Soured ON THE WORLD?—THAT'S LIVER

Wake up your Liver! No Calomel necessary

Many people who feel sour, sluggish and generally unwell make the mistake of taking pills, or laxatives. Laxatives merely irritate the bowels and produce only momentary relief. The only way to wake up your liver is to take a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills purify the blood, strengthen the stomach and intestinal walls, and give you a new lease of life. They will soon be your best friend. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. Get all druggists.

The duration of each cruise will be 12½ days, the steamer leaving New York on a Saturday and returning Friday two weeks later. It is considered this will make the cruise very suitable for those whose vacations cover only two weeks.

The itinerary for these cruises will be much the same as that covered by the "Mauretania" so successfully this last winter. The ports will include Port of Spain, Trinidad, La Guayra, Venezuela, South America, Willemstad, Curacao, Colon, Panama and Havana, Cuba.

Two nights and one day will be spent in Panama, allowing passengers time to cross the Isthmus to the old city of Panama and view the various locks on the way. The same period will be spent also in Havana, with bathing, racing, basketball, golf and jai alai to attract the visitor.

Practically a full daylight day will be spent ashore in each of the other ports.

Cruise sailing dates are July 8th, July 22nd, August 5th, August 22nd, and September 9th.

Commenting on this unusual cruise programme, Arthur Randles, general passenger manager of the Cunard and Anchor-Donalson Lines in Canada, said, "We have had so many inquiries this year for summer cruises to the West Indies that we have decided to schedule a programme which a few years ago would have been impracticable. Apparently thousands of people who cannot get away in the winter are anxious to visit the places in the West Indies which they have read of and heard so much about, but which up to now have been inaccessible in the manner arranged for winter vacationists, that is, by cruises in large Atlantic liners on the all-inclusive expense basis. Because of the tremendous number of inquiries received at our offices we decided to look into the question of climate thoroughly. We obviously did not want to send pleasure cruises to the West Indies in summer if there was any doubt as to whether such voyages would encounter pleasant and comfortable weather."

"To this end we obtained official weather and temperature reports for the entire year at various West Indian ports which the 'Mauretania' touched at this winter. We found that these statistics bore out completely what our agents in these ports had represented, that the variation in temperature between summer and winter was practically negligible. "During the day the islands are swept by constant trade winds, so that a sultry day, such as we experience in New York is practically unknown. The nights are invariably cool and comfortable."

"Summer seas prevail throughout the entire itineraries practically guaranteeing complete absence of motion, the highly desirable feature of cruising at sea without the discomfort of rough weather. "The cost of sea cruising was never so economical from the passenger standpoint than it is today. The rate for these cruises is less than what an ordinary summer vacationist spends at home or in a Canadian or American resort."

Coyotes have special places to meet and sing their weird songs after nightfall, but they never use the same meeting ground two nights in succession.

Constante Travels From Chesterfield To Churchill In Seven Days

From Chesterfield to Churchill, a distance of 425 miles, in seven days is the accomplishment of Constante Norris Yates. This is the shortest time on record. Constante Yates, accompanied only by an Indian guide, travelled by dog team.

The feat of the young constante was accomplished early in April. The trip to Churchill is only made twice a winter to carry mail and necessities. Constante Yates was an escort to a western Canadian scientific explorer for a month last winter and spent that time completely away from civilization, living the life of an Eskimo.

Adoption of the system of trial by jury is being discussed in the Philippines.

BRITAIN FAVORS U. S. PROPOSAL FOR TARIFF TRUCE

London, England.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald announced in the House of Commons that Britain favors the U. S. proposal for a tariff truce during the period of the world economic conference with safeguards for Britain's special tariff position.

Mr. MacDonald agreed to hold a full debate of the Washington conversations and of the British policy at the world economic conference.

The prime minister informed the House Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Herriot and he himself had agreed in regard to plans for the world party.

He appeared fresh and filled with confidence as he reviewed the Washington talks.

The prime minister quickly roused the members to most intense interest. They craned their necks and sat on the edges of their seats as, at the outset of his report on his discussions in Washington with President Roosevelt, he jumped into the question of the tariff truce.

With tariff issues paramount in the House, Mr. MacDonald made it clear that while President Roosevelt, Edward Herriot, of France, and he had agreed on plans for convening the world economic conference, the Washington talks brought no definite agreements in regard to policy. Nor had there been any solution of the world problems, he said, although the exchange of views was "most encouraging."

The prime minister announced that war debts had been "frankly examined in all their aspects," but he said that no fuller statement was possible at the present time as the problem "necessarily has not yet reached the stage of agreement."

He declared that the suggestion of "safeguard" of Britain's special tariff position made in connection with the tariff truce suggestion, had been considered "reasonable" by U. S. officials.

The British position in regard to tariffs, he told the House, is different from that of nations which are already high tariff countries, with policies of economic defence already fully worked out and in operation.

Pioneer Woman Legislator

Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith Dies At Vancouver

Vancouver, B.C.—Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, pioneer woman legislator of British Columbia, and first woman to hold cabinet rank in any British Empire parliament, died in hospital here May 31.

On April 22, Mrs. Smith suffered an attack of cerebral hemorrhage and had been unconscious since. She was born in England 72 years ago.

Mrs. Smith first represented Vancouver in the British Columbia legislature in 1918, succeeding her late husband, Hon. Ralph Smith, minister of finance in the provincial cabinet, and a former member of the House of Commons. In 1921 she was appointed minister without portfolio by the premier, Hon. John Oliver, but retired from that position in the same year. She continued to sit in the legislature until 1928.

Mrs. Smith took great interest in all legislation pertaining to the welfare of women and was responsible for many acts for the betterment of their condition.

Sugar Tax Passes House

After Liberals Demand For General Retrenchment Scheme

Ottawa, Ont.—The two-cent sugar tax passed the House of Commons after demands from Liberals for a general retrenchment scheme to trim the costs of government. Official Ottawa, said Hon. James Macdonald, former minister of trade and commerce, should take a lesson from private business and cut its overhead. He instanced the 34 research laboratories operated in various government departments and, at the same time a national research council equipped to handle the same work.

Ottawa May Erect Building

Ottawa, Ont.—A large office building in Ottawa is planned by the government to relieve unemployment. It would be west of the Confederation building on Wellington Street. It is proposed that the new structure, which would cost $2,000,000, would be paid for by "transient notes," to be paid off in annual payments, instead of the more costly plan of issuing debentures.

Surtax On U. S. Goods

French Minister Of Finance Is Ready To Take Action

Paris, France.—The ministry of finance has prepared to impose shortly a 15 per cent. surtax on U. S. goods.

The decree, it was learned, is ready for signature, to be issued when the U. S. dollar approaches 20 francs, which officials expect.

This surtax already is effective on British and Japanese goods because of depreciated exchange.

It cannot be increased without parliamentary authority, which Premier Daladier was reported contemplating.

American residents in France and tourists, who already have lost a large part of their incomes, have been badly hit by the 15 per cent. fall in the dollar. Many of them, unable to hold out longer, are beginning to flock back homeward.

Movements of both the dollar and the pound sterling have been complicated by the franc, but it was hoped France will be helped by measures the government is considering to defend French commerce and further slashes of the budget by the senate. This, the minister's press indicates, the cabinet supports.

Weakness of the franc was attributed to concern over the repercussions of commerce of the unbalanced French budget and the necessity for borrowing abroad.

A general race to wind up pending commercial pacts before the convening date of the world economic conference in London, England, June 12, was discussed in some quarters.

Ramsay MacDonald Says Visit Was Successful

British Premier Pleased Over Talks With President Roosevelt

Southampton, Eng.—A cheering crowd on the dock greeted Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald on his return from his economic discussions with President Roosevelt in Washington.

Mr. MacDonald declared on landing that he was very pleased with all of his conversations with Mr. Roosevelt, which he described as most successful.

The prime minister said it was well worth while going alone and tackling world problems which were bound to yield to co-operative good will. It was that good will which he found in a striking way in Washington, he declared.

He denied inviting Mr. Roosevelt to come to London for the world economic conference which is to open June 12, saying that the matter never was mentioned between them.

"I am very pleased with the whole of the transactions," the prime minister told interviewers. "I met a man who is sincerely interested in getting things to move in the world, and we found ourselves in most complete agreement. We had talks on how to do it of the most friendly kind."

Great Air Armada

Italian Aviators To Cross North Atlantic In June

St. John's, Nfld.—Italian aviation experts, busy preparing for the great air armada, that will cross the north Atlantic in June, announced recently that two submarines and two drifters would arrive here the middle of May. These vessels will act as convoys for the 24 airplanes of the "11th year crusade" along the northern route.

The airplanes, scheduled to leave Orbetello late in May or early in June, will fly to Chicago for the Century of Progress Exposition, touching at Amsterdam, Holland, London, Ireland; Reykjavik, Iceland; Cartwright, Labrador, and Shediac, New Brunswick.

Three advance planes arrived here last week on the liner "Roasted," and as soon as weather permits they will fly to Cartwright to establish a supply base for the flotilla.

Milk Probe Finished

Ottawa, Ont.—The parliamentary milk probe is virtually ended. Only in the eventuality of a desire for enlightenment on the milk situation to be explained by some particular witness will any further evidence be taken. After its 25th sitting the committee gave out its official intimation. An immediate report to parliament is probable.

Calgary, Alberta.—Unemployed to the number of 370 reported at relief jobs despite the unemployed married men's relief strike, sponsored by service organizations in the province, against lower summer relief allowances.

Manitoba Taxation

New Emergency Legislation Is Sweeping In Its Application

Winnipeg, Man.—Balancing of the family budget appeared to be the principal concern of residents of Manitoba recently, following passage of the government's emergency legislation providing for a two per cent. tax on all wages and incomes.

The term wages, under the act, has a broad application and covers salaries and emoluments from any source whatsoever, compensation for labor or services measured by time, piece or otherwise. The tax is effective as from May 1.

Incidental privileges, such as free board or lodging must be added by the employers at prevailing rates and added to earnings taxable. Not even the travelling salesman, whose expense account allows for subsistence away from home, is forgotten.

Householders scanned the family budget in search of items that comfortably could be eliminated in order to bring about an equalization. The telephone, gasoline for the family automobile and other sundries were subjects for discussion.

Sweeping in its application the tax includes salaries, indemnities or other remunerations of members of the senate and House of Commons. Dominion members thereof, members of municipal councils, commissioners of board of management and court judges are affected.

Members of parliament and legislature, travelling on passes also will come under the provisions of the tax. They will pay two per cent. on what they would have paid for railway transportation.

U. S. CURRENCY INFLATION PLAN IS APPROVED

Washington.—With a roaring chorus of ayes, piling up a vote of 307 to 86, the United States House of Representatives approved the Roosevelt currency inflation plan.

The inflation rider which now has complete congressional approval, will allow President Roosevelt, among other things, to expand currency and credit by as much as $6,000,000,000 in addition to altering the gold backing of the United States dollar by as much as 50 per cent.

Action came on the inflation amendment in the House after it disagreed to all senate farm relief amendments and sent them to conference.

The inflation amendment gives President Roosevelt broad powers over the financial structure of the government. These powers could be used alternatively or together, depending upon needs to meet the financial situation.

Briefly it permits: The Federal Reserve banks to buy $3,000,000,000 in outstanding government bonds, against which currency may be issued.

The president to issue if he sees fit, another $3,000,000,000 in United States notes.

The president to reduce, up to 50 per cent., the content of the gold dollar.

The president to change the ratio of the silver dollar and provide for the free coinage of silver.

The president to accept $200,000,000 in silver from other countries as payment on the war debts at the rate of up to 50 cents an ounce, against which currency may be issued.

PRESS PHOTOGRAPHERS HIT MACDONALD BOON VOYAGE

CREATED BRITISH AIR FORCE

Great Britain has lost one of the greatest minds behind the creation of the British Air Force with the sudden passing of Sir William George Salmond, commander-in-chief of the Air Defence of Great Britain. He was to have become Chief Air Marshal this month, in succession to his brother, who was to retire.

Obligations Will Be Covered By Debentures

Shareholders At Annual Meeting Of C.P.R. Approve Issue

Montreal, Que.—To permit the liquidation of short term loans amounting to $30,000,000 and other maturing obligations, shareholders approved the issue of additional consolidated debentures at the annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company here.

In his address to the meeting Edward W. Beatty, chairman and president, said despite unfavorable conditions the operations of the company showed it had come through in excellent physical condition and with its financial structure on a conservative basis.

Working assets at the end of the year were $52,811,144, while current liabilities were $14,311,257, a ratio of 3.7 times.

Mr. Beatty, Senator Frederick L. Beique, W. A. Black and Lord Shaughnessy were re-elected to the board of directors, their present term of office having expired. The address of Mr. Beatty was adopted without discussion.

Railway Making Profit

B.C. Road Announces Revenues Exceed Expenditures

Vancouver, B.C.—The Pacific Great Eastern Railway is one of the brightest spots in British Columbia industry, according to reports just submitted by Robert Wilson, executive assistant to the board of directors. Revenues will exceed expenditures for the first six months of the current year, it is prophesied.

Mr. Wilson declares this will be the first time revenue has topped expenditure in the first six months of any year the road has been operated.

Statement for March shows a profit on operation of $879, as compared with a loss of $13,465 in March of last year.

March Exports To U.S. Down

Ottawa, Ont.—Agricultural products exported to United States in March totalled $416,780, as against $453,823 for the corresponding month last year, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. For the nine months ending March, farm products exported to United States were valued at $2,517,705, as compared with $7,731,674 for the corresponding period in 1931-32.

Muskies Menace Free States' Hydro Scheme

Government Seeks Canada's Advice On Means Of Extirpation

Dublin, Irish Free State.—Canadian muskies are believed to be threatening the Free State's great hydro-electric scheme on the river Shannon. In an unguarded moment last year the Department of Agriculture gave permission for the importation of two of the rats from the Dominion.

After a short period in captivity the animals escaped from their owner and last week it was discovered the Free State was afflicted with a pest from which it had hitherto been immune.

Half a dozen of the rats were shot by a Tipperary farmer who observed them on a Shannon embankment and mistook them for otters.

The Department of Agriculture has ordered an investigation and experts from the Department of Industry and Commerce fear stringent measures will have to be adopted to prevent the pests from damaging the hydro-electric scheme embankments.

The government has promised to introduce a bill in the fall which will make the rats illegal inhabitants of the Free State, believing the present system of licensed importation is inadequate. In the meantime the department of agriculture is to seek advice from the Canadian Department of Agriculture as to the best means of exterminating the animals.

To Prosecute Gold Hoarders

Time Limit For Surrender To U.S. Treasury Has Expired

Washington.—United States government has said it intends to proceed against gold hoarders, but it has yet to reveal its course of action. Indications are that many hoarders are waiting for treasury officials to show their hand.

The time limit for returning gold has expired, and it is understood the treasury is checking a list of hoarders compiled by banks. Last week there was approximately $100,000,000 in gold and gold certificates still out, the bulk of it believed to be in hiding in this country.

BAN OATH OF ALLEGIANCE TO BRITISH CROWN

Dublin, Irish Free State.—Hope that he soon would have the pleasure of proclaiming a free republic was expressed by President Eamon de Valera in a hushed dall during the closing debate which followed the enactment of a bill removing the oath of allegiance to the British crown.

The president added that he was resolved to wipe from the existing constitution "everything inconsistent with the sovereign rights of the Irish people."

This utterance was the most definite of the kind de Valera ever had made.

"We are going to remove from the constitution every badge of inferiority," the president declared. "The people will be consulted before the republic is declared."

Holding aloft a copy of a draft constitution submitted by an Irish delegation to Great Britain in 1922 which was amended by the British, de Valera said the would take from it every clause Great Britain "forced" them to accept.

The abrogation bill was re-passed by the Dail Eireann by a vote of 78 to 66. Previously twice rejected, it becomes law through invocation of article 38a of the constitution, setting a time limit on the upper chamber's veto.

The action was taken on the motion of President de Valera himself, made in Gaelic, the Irish national language.

Conviction that the British government would consider the Anglo-Irish treaty setting up the Free State broken, the moment the "first person" took his seat in the dail without subscribing to the oath, was expressed by Gratian Edmond, supporter of former President William T. Cosgrave.

President de Valera replied he did not believe the bill's passage was a violation of the treaty and added it was his intention to continue pressing for removal from the constitution of any "symbols" regarded as inconsistent with the position of the Free State. One of these "symbols" was the oath, which he said, was being removed and others would disappear through legislation in the near future.

NEW PENSIONS BODY EXPECTED TO BE ORGANIZED

Ottawa, Ont.—Merger of the board of pensions commissioners and the pensions tribunals, with the present functions of the two performed by a new body which may be called the "Canadian Pension Commission," is now contemplated by the government.

This was announced to the House of Commons committee that is examining the bill amending the Pension Act by Colonel James Arthur (Cons., Parry Sound), chairman of the committee.

The necessary legislation to bring this about will be placed before the committee in the autumn, and the present bill. Its implication is that both the board of pension commissioners and the tribunals will disappear as such.

Personnel of the present commission and either four or six of the present tribunals will be retained, according to whatever decision is arrived at with regard to the size of the new body.

Making his announcement, Col. Arthur said that following discussions with the minister of pensions, Hon. Murray MacLaren, and officials of the pension department, he had found them willing to "give way to reasonable representations respecting the act." They believe the bill to be a good one, and one which carried out the recommendations of the investigating committee.

Colonel Arthur suggested the clause of the amending act which abolished all the pensional tribunals, be held over to enable the departmental officers to draft new amendments.

The contemplated amendments had not been submitted to the veterans, since he had not had time to do so.

Invited by the committee to express his views, J. R. Bowler, general secretary of the Canadian Legion, declared he would have to submit the new proposal to his colleagues of the Associated Veterans before venturing an opinion. However, at the first glance it would seem that the suggestion met what the veterans had been asking for, particularly if it meant the merging of the two bodies into one court of first instance.

Thirty Professors Lose Positions In Germany

Dismissed From Berlin and Cologne Universities Under Hitler Regime

Berlin, Germany.—Opening of the summer semester at German schools and universities under the auspices of the Hitler regime has been marked by the dismissal of 30 professors from Berlin and Cologne universities.

Meanwhile the students' federation of the former institution has inaugurated a boycott against Jews remaining on the staff, contending that "the German student resents having the principles of knowledge and thinking set by Jews."

It is the duty of every German student, the federation declared, "neither to enroll in courses nor to attend lectures given by Jews."

Dismissal of the 30 professors, 21 from Berlin University, and nine from the Cologne school, was announced by Bernhard Rust, Prussian education minister.

Prorogation Of House

Early Closing Of Ottawa Parliament

Ottawa, Ont.—Possibility of an early prorogation of the House of Commons was seen in the course of an interchange on the subject between Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the official opposition.

The question arose when Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, asked for a second interim supply of 1-12 of the total, in order to carry on day to day requirements of government, and meet the May 15 salary list.

Mr. Mackenzie King suggested that, as the opposition had no desire to further prolong the session, it might be possible to prorogue before the middle of May and that interim supply would not be necessary.

Conscription Not For Canada

Geneva, Switzerland.—While the disarmament conference again split on the proposal to abolish Germany's standing army and substitute a conscript force, Canada's delegate, Dr. W. A. Riddell, told the conference that the Canadian people "would not stand for conscription."

Not a word has been said nor an idea entertained by any business man to do any less for the unemployed, than Mayor Knight or his council intend to do. They are not, in general, appealing against the general assessment, and are not opposed to paying a reasonable and necessary tax.
